ANNOUNCEMENTS:

USER CONFERENCE PROPOSALS/IDEAS

We are looking for new, creative ideas on making our conference more “hands-on” and interactive this year. If you’ve been to a conference or training session that used techniques or new ways to teach/learn, we are always interested in hearing about your experiences. We would like to do more short training breakouts throughout the conference, so please forward your topic interests, as well.

Without your ideas, it will be left up to us to figure out what we “think” might interest you! Let’s hear from you!

DOCUMENTATION:

Last month we introduced you to our website NEW LOOK. During the conversion of our site, new folders were created by our Website Management Team within the software program (Cascade) as part of a better organization of our site material and the ability to more easily find items when they needed updating. Needless to say, when items are moved to different folders sometimes the actual address of that item changes. We are noticing that, at times, when documents have a link listed to something else within our site, that link is broken.

If you come across pages, documentation or links that are broken, please let us know. We’ve tried to review the site, but haven’t gotten to the links “within” all of those documents. We want you to be able to access the information you need, so we will locate it for you, send it to you, as well as fix it on our website.
