

Support Center and Help Topics

You can find additional information on encoding and transfer articulation on the CollegeSource website. College Source also has an issue tracker, for known issues/bugs within u.achieve. Help topics contain lists of the fields in u.achieve, as well as definitions and explanations of functionality options for those fields.

Find the Help topics here:

<https://clients.collegesource.com/home/display/STAT/Help+Topics+Home>

The screenshot shows the CollegeSource website's Help Topics Home page. The page has a dark header with the CollegeSource logo and navigation links: Support Center, Spaces, Questions, and Browse. A search bar and user profile icon are on the right. On the left, there is a 'Shortcuts' sidebar with links to Support, Issue Tracker, Services, Questions, u.achieve Suite, Transferology, DARwin, and Training & Conferences. Below this are links for CollegeSource Software Versioning, Help Topics Home, How to Search, Legacy Documentation, Release Notes, and Useful Search. The main content area is titled 'Static / Resources' and 'Help Topics Home', created by Hao Doan and last modified by Terie Kleman about 4 hours ago. It features a green welcome message: 'Welcome to the Current Help Topics!'. Below the message is a list of links: Organization of Help Topics, Error Message Guide, Where to Look in Help Topics, and Choose a Help Topic. At the bottom, a paragraph explains that the u.achieve Help Topics consist of a list of fields contained in u.achieve and their function and application throughout the software, along with definitions and explanations of options.

Note: Some content on the CollegeSource website may require login.

All Minnesota State users are eligible for a CollegeSource account. If you do not have an account, request an account user name and password at:

<https://clients.collegesource.com/myprofile/RequestAccountServlet>